WFNR Special Interest Group (SIG) “Clinical Application of Advanced Technologies”

Become a thought leader for rehab technologies in your clinic

The aim of this special interest group is to bring together and provide a discussion forum for clinicians who use or have an interest in using advanced technologies within their clinical routine. It will focus on developing clinical guidelines as well as promoting the use of an agreed battery of outcome measures to facilitate multicentre trials.

Working with the “Clinical Trials SIG” it will also provide a platform where clinical researchers can look for partners to participate in clinical trials looking at topics such as clinical application, effectiveness and cost efficiency of using advanced technologies in neurological rehabilitation. The SIG further aims to promote and highlight available educational resources by other specialist groups.

Join the kick-off meeting for this SIG on June 10, 2015 at the Rehab Week in Valencia.
